

Contents

Preface	vii
Abbreviations	viii
Introduction: A Little Beyond	1
Part A
New England Ways: Roger Williams and John Cotton
1. Roger Williams's A Key into the Language of America (1643): Radical Calvinism, Allegory, and the Question of Puritan-Indian Relations	13
2. John Cotton and the Puritan Origins of American Civility	30
Part B
Traveling in Concord: Ralph Waldo Emerson and Henry David Thoreau
3. Emerson's Thrifty Soul and the Business of America	49
4. Ralph Waldo Emerson: From virii illustres to Representative Men	61
5. "A man is a method": Emerson as Educator-Philosopher	74
6. Ralph Waldo Emerson: The Infidel as National Saint	98
7. Thoreau's House	118
8. "Walking" and the Method of Nature: Thoreau, Emerson, Gadamer	129

9. Thoreau's "Extravagant" Discourse	153
10. Keeping Pace with the Sun: Views of Time in Shakespeare and Thoreau	168
11. Thoreau's "Wild Apples," Berkeley, and the Language of Nature	183
12. Thoreau's Natural History Essays, or, What Huckleberries Can Tell Us	202
13. Thoreau's Excursions, Science, and Hermeneutics	219
Part C
Modernist Roads: William Carlos Williams and Martin Walser
14. William Carlos Williams and the Transcendentalist Roots of American Modernism	237
15. Martin Walser's American Journey: Whitmanesque Notes on "Attempt to Understand a Feeling" ("Versuch, ein Gefühl zu verstehen")	257
Bibliography	277
Index	303